MR. CLEVELAND'S ANXIETY INCREASING. SMALL PROSPECTS OF SILVER LEGISLATION IN

THE HOUTE Washington, Jan. 28 (special).-Indications are not wanting that Mr. Cleveland's anxiety on account the prospects of legi-lation to stop the purchase of silbuilion by the Government is steadily increasing, and that the indifference and inertia of the Democratic leaders in the House of Representatives have been a surprise as well as a disappointment to him. The setting spart of two days in the session to late as February 9 and 10, within three weeks of the expiration of this Congress, for the consideration of the Andrew bill, without any provision for a clesure, is generally regarded as an owen of the defeat of that measure; and yet those were the days specified by its friends. although the Committee on Rules was willing to report a special order giving them two days of next week, and the free silver Democrats, it is understood, were Among the visitors at the Capital to-day was Mr. Wall, the Wisconsin member of the Democratic National Committee, who made many inquiries about the prospects of the Andrew bill. As he has recently been in conference with Mr. Cleveland, it is inferred that his chief mission to Washington is to impress Democratic Senators and Representatives the the proposed legislation in order to relieve the in-coming Administration of embarrassment. Senator Carlisle still believes that enough Democratic Senators will vote with a majority of the Republicans in that body to carry a measure to repeal the Silver Parchase act, and it is said that he will try to impress upon Mr. Cleveland's mind, during their coming consultation, the paramount necessity of bringing influences to bear which will compet enough Demo-cratic Representatives to fall into line to enable the Republicans to carry a bill through the House of Representatives.

It is understood that after a careful examination of the financial condition of the Government, furnished the financial condition of the Government, furnished to the Ways and Means Committee by Secretary Poster, of the Treasury Department, Senator Carlisle is convinced that there is nothing in the situation which will be likely to demand legislative treatment before next fail, and that he will so advise Mr. Cleveland. It may be remembered that about two years ago Mr. Carlisle's predictions of a Treasury deficit by, if not before, the end of the fiscal year 1863 were somewhat loud and emphatic, as well as aoleful. He is doubtless happy to be convinced that there is no danger of their fuifilment.

TO AMEND THE IMMIGRATION LAWS.

MR. CHANDLER'S PILL ESTABLISHING AD-DITIONAL REGULATIONS REPORTED TO THE SENATE.

Washington, Jan. 28 .- Senator Chandler to-day re ported to the Senate from the Immigration Committee a bill establishing additional regulations concerning immigration. The bill is a substitute for the original till introduced by Mr. Chandler at the beginning of the present month. It has no relation to the Quarantine till recently passed by the House, although it is probably the intention of the Senate to allow it to replace all of the immigration features embedded in that bill when they have been stricken from the House bill later on. The bill amends the existing immigration laws in the following particulars: To the excluded classes are added all persons physically capable and over twelve years of age who cannot read and write with reasonable facility in their own language, except aged persons who are the parents or grandparents of eligible immigrants; persons blind or crippled or otherwise physically imperfect, so that they are wholly or partially di-abled from manual labor, unless it is shown that they are sure of abundant sup-port; persons belonging to societies which favor or justify unlawful destruction of life and property. Intending immigrants are required to sign a declaration giving all the particulars of nativity and residence. United States Consuls may also issue to intending immigrants certificates upon due investigation showing that they are eligible to entry; but these certificates are not to stop further inquiry by the customs officers at the port of entry. The remainder of the bill relates to the space to be set apart on vessels for the limit-grants, ventilation, etc.

SLOW WORK IN THE HOUSE.

ONLY TWO ITEMS IN THE SUNDRY CIVIL BILL DISPOSED OF.

HOLMAN'S FIGHT AGAINST THE MILITARY POST APPROPRIATION-THE YELLOW TONE PARK IMPROVEMENT

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Washington, Jan. 28.- "Economist" Holman was compelled to use all his skill and exert all his strength to-day to pilot the sundry Civil bill safely between the shoals and rocks which beset its course in the Committee of the Whole. He had also to re-press a mutiny in the ranks of his own party, and the progress made was therefore extremely slow, only two items being disposed of at 3 o'clock, when the bill was laid aside. One of these items which provoked some discussion on Thursday was that increase the amount for the construction enlargement of military posts $200,000 to $400,000 or $500,000. For several years it has been the policy of the War Department to discentinue as rapidly as practicable the numerous small military posts which are scattered throughout the country, especially in the Western States and Territories, and to concentrate the Army at a comparatively small number of posts, which are easily accessible, and from which tro ps can be quickly moved to any place where their presence may be needed. This is a policy of economy as well as one which is founded on sound military reasons. As even a Holman ought to be willing to admit, it is nore economical to maintain eight or ten companies of soldiers at a single post, where necessary supplies can be obtained by rail or water transportation, than to maintain the same companies at four or five peets, some or all of which are remote and difficult of access, and to which supplies have to be hauled many miles in wagons over had roads or no roads at all. These and other strong considerations in favor of increasing the appropriation were vigorously urged to-day by Messrs. Outhwaite and Rockwell, of the Military Committee, and other Democrats, as well a by General Curtis, of New York, and other Republicans but their cogent and foretble arguments produced no im pression upon Holman and the other five-cent "econo-mists" who followed his lead. It is not often that a Democrat in the House of Representatives arraigns and criticises one of the leaders of his party so severely as Chairman Outhwalte, of the Military Committee, did to-day when he ussailed the venerable chairman of th Appropriations Committee and appealed to the Demo cratic majority in the House to do right voluntarily for once and not wait for the Senate to compel it to Judge Holman replied with unwented spirit, and showed by his manner that he was deeply irritated by Chairman Outhwaite's keen thrusts. The latter had suggested, among other things, that it would be wise to take $200,000 from the $16,115,000 carried in the bill for river and harbor improvements and apply it to military posts, where improvements have been begun and where barricks are badly needed to house the soldiers already stationed thereat suggestion gave "Jerry" Simpson an opportunity Simpson an opportunity indulge in one of his demagogic outbreaks The Quartermaster General of the Army, in his testi mony before the Sub-Committee on Appropriations, gave details showing that the sum of $550,000 is absolutely necessary to continue work on the military posts now in course of construction. In addition to this sum. Major-General schofield had recommended an appropriation of $1,525,000 for new posts and the calarge ment of others on the Atlantic coast. The committee Quartermaster-General and the recommendation of General Scholleld, and it succeeded to-day in defeat ing, after an acrimon'ous debate, the amenament offered by Chaliman Outhwaite to make the appropria offered by Chaliman Outhwate to make the appropriation $400,000, the same as the amount granted for the present fiscal year.

The second and only other item disposed of to day was one of $40,000 for the improvement of the Yellowstone National Park, which Chairman Holman, after a brisk debate, agreed to reduce to $20,000. The chief opposition to this appropriation came from Democrats under the leadership of Mr. Stockadae, of Missouri, who resisted it because Congress had refused to allow a railroad rompany to build a railroad over the sacred soil" of the park, so that persons who are not endowed with great wealth can enter and enjoy its beauties.

After a long time wasted in an ineffectual attempt to obtain a quorum, which had been demanded and which failed to appear, the point of order was withdrawn, and Mr. Stockade's amendment to strike out the item was rejected. The friends and promoters of the Scheme to invade the Park by means of a railroad did not show so much strength to-day as on some former occasions, but they have by no means abandoned the fight and will renew it at the first opportunity.

Attorney-General Miller says that be to give only a general answer, as the only connection of the Department of Justice with the claims is in their defence. There are now about 7,604 of such claims pending, and to comply with the request would require the inspection of each The reports of the various Attorney-Generals have estimated the amount from $250,000,000 to about $400,000,000. ANNUAL REUNION OF ALFRED DOLGE AND HIS EMPLOYES. Dolgeville, N. Y., Jan. 28 (Special).-The twenty-fourth annual reunion of the firm of Alfred Dolge was held here to night. Mr. Dolge is the largest felt and felt shoe manufacturer in the United States and has about 500 men employed in his factory in this village. It has been the custom of the firm duce its organization to hold annual reunions and on this occasion Mr. Dolge delivered to his workmen his annual address. Mr. Dolge has in successful opera ion in his factories a system of distribution of earnings with his employes, and every year distributes a large share of the year's earnings with them. Up to tate he has distributed to his employes or expender in their behalf over and above their wages since he started his system of earning-sharing nearly $200,000. The amount distributed this year is $16,363 07 and eighteen employes received $100 life insurance poll cies. Mr. Dolge is an ardent Protectionist and in his speech showed conclusively that it would be for his interest to be a Free Trader, as his production of felt did not constitute one-tenth of the entire volume of business transacted by the firm each year. His importing business was far greater than the product of all his factories put together. He stated that he had worked for protection because he believed it to be the best policy for the development of the industries and prosperity of the country. The meeting this evening was called to order by Edward Dedicke, the oldest employe in point of service and superintendent of the felt department. Speeches were made by Hugo Dolge, Henry A. Dolge, E. and John C. Frund, of ibelgeville, and Professor Goorge Gunton, Robert A. Wiedenman and Rudolf Dolge, of New-York.

On January I, this year, Rudolf Dolge, eldest son of Alfred Dolge, was admitted as a pariner in the firm and he was formally introduced on this occasion. Mr. Dolge is an ardent Protectionist and in his
